

TRIPPING THE LIGHT FANTASTIC IN BRISTOL

Local Bristol charity, St Peter's Hospice, was delighted today to receive a cheque for £5,517 jointly raised by the Bristol Property Agents Association (BPAA) and the Faculty of Building at their annual ball which attracted over 550 members of the property and construction industry from across the West Country.

The charity, which provides specialist care for local people who are terminally ill as well as support for their families and children, needs £4million each year in order to operate and relies on donations and fundraising from the community and local businesses.

Sian Rees, Corporate Fundraiser for St Peter's Hospice, commented:

"We are thrilled at the wonderful donation which will go towards direct patient care. Last year St Peter's cared for over 1,650 patients thanks to the support of local people and businesses in and around Bristol. We are very grateful to the BPAA and the Faculty of Building for their endeavours."
